

As your experts in vascular health, we have become concerned that many people are delaying care or not going to see the doctor because they are afraid of becoming infected.

It is important to remember that strokes, heart attacks, aneurysms and limb-threatening circulatory disorders have not gone away.

Delaying care, not calling 911 when necessary, or waiting until "things get better at the hospital" may result in worse problems than COVID is causing.

All hospitals have taken extensive measures to keep the environment safe for ALL patients.

Get the care you need NOW.
"Later" may be too late!

You owe it to yourself to get the best and most timely care possible to preserve your health. Vascular disease does not get better with time.
